Informatization and the Public Sector 3 (1994) 375–376
IOS Press

Author index

Volume 3 (1994)

Bourcier, D.
Representing the law in information technologies. Reflections on government writing techniques 205–227
Donk, W.B.H.J. van de and Meyer, O.M.T.
Information, informatization and political decision-making. An exploration of novel means and changed conditions in political decision-making processes 229–264
Dunkle, D., King, J.L., Perry, J.N. and Kraemer, K.L.
Personal computers and the "democratization" of computing in U.S. city governments 115–133
Dunkle, D., see Northrop, A.
Frissen, P.H.A.
The virtual reality of informatization in public administration 265–281
Frissen, P.H.A., see Snellen, I.
Gilbert, A.L. and Lertphokanont, R.
Information Technology-led development: Can the lessons be learned? 83– 98
Grimmer, K.
Practical rationality or instrumental rationality. Public administration organizations as institutions and their transformation due to information technology 325–351
Hoven, M.J. van den
Towards ethical principles for designing politico-administrative information systems 353–373
Kaneda, T.
Informatization experience of Japanese city governments during the 1980s: The period when the widespread use of personal computers forced city governments to change their information processing 149–161
King, J.L., see Northrop, A.
King, J.L., see Dunkle, D.
King, J.L., see Kraemer, K.L.
Kraemer, K.L. and King, J.L.
Social analysis of information systems: The Irvine School, 1970–1994 163–182
Kraemer, K.L., see Northrop, A.
Kraemer, K.L., see Dunkle, D.
Lenk, K.
Information systems in public administration: From research to design 305–324
Lertphokanont, R., see Gilberg, A.L.
Margetts, H. and Willcocks, L.
Informatization in public sector organizations: Distinctive or common risks? 1– 19
Meyer, O.M.T., see Donk, W.B.H.J. van de
Northrop, A., Dunkle, D., Kraemer, K.L. and King, J.L.
Computers, police, and the fight against crime: An ecology of technology, training and use 21– 45

0925-5052/94/$05.00©1994 – IOS Press. All rights reserved

Perry, J.N., see Dunkle, D.
Scheepers, A.W.A.
Informatization in street-level bureaucracies: Bureaucratic competence and discretion in Dutch Municipal Social Services Departments 47– 61
Snellen, I.
Automation of policy implementation 135–148
Snellen, I. and Frissen, P.H.A.
Editorial 183–187
Snellen, I.
ICT: A revolutionizing force in public administration? 283–304
Székely, I.
New rights and old concerns: Information privacy in public opinion and in the press in Hungary 99–113
Taylor, J.A.
Telecommunications infrastructure and public policy development: Evidence and inference 63– 73
Willcocks, L., see Margetts, H.
Zuurmond, A.
From bureaucracy to infocracy: a tale of two cities 189–204